Factual Summary

12. Patient G. H. went to Respondent’s office for treatment of back pain and difficulty walking. On or about October 15, 2011, while awaiting his first treatment at Respondent’s

1 The name of the patients and certain other witnesses are abbreviated to protect their privacy rights. The names will be provided to Respondent upon written request for discovery.
business Elegant Bee Health Consultation, Inc., he noted there was no privacy between the patient waiting area and the treatment area thus allowing him to see other patients in a state of partial undress. Mr. G. H. then spoke to a woman at the desk who told him that if he was allergic to bees he would have to have a shot before being treated. Mr. G. H. left without being treated and filed a complaint with the Board about the conditions at Respondent’s acupuncture practice, Elegant Bee Health Consultation, Inc.

13. In response to Mr. G. H.’s complaint, on or about April 25, 2012, Department of Consumer Affairs Investigator Jeff Ramos (Ramos) went to Elegant Bee Health Consultation, Inc. and spoke with Respondent. During that conversation Respondent told Ramos he has practiced acupuncture, herbal treatment, and apitherapy at his office since 2009. Ramos informed Respondent that Respondent’s practice location, Elegant Bee Health Consultation, Inc. was not registered with the Board, as required by law.

Respondent agreed with Ramos that apitherapy is not within the practice of acupuncture, but said he was engaged in research in apitherapy and provided Ramos with his single published research paper. Respondent told Ramos he treated approximately 40 to 60 clients a week with apitherapy. Respondent explained that once he obtained a signed consent form from the patient he performs an allergy test on the patient by allowing a bee to sting the patient. Respondent explained that if the patient developed a rash or had an adverse reaction he would not provide apitherapy therapy to the patient. Respondent said if the patient experienced a severe adverse reaction such as anaphylactic shock he would provide an herbal remedy he himself developed and call 911. Respondent does not have an allergic reaction kit, epinephrine, or over the counter medication on site for any patient who has an adverse reaction to the bee venom.

Respondent explained that he does not use syringes or administer injections to administer the bee venom; rather the bee venom is injected by permitting a bee(s) to sting the patients which thereby delivers the bee venom into the patient’s body.

2 Apitherapy is the medical use of honey bee products including honey, pollen, bee bread, royal jelly, propolis and bee venom.
Ramos Respondent has been treating her utilizing apitherapy therapy for rheumatoid arthritis and difficulty walking for two years. During that time Respondent would provide treatment to her every two weeks for six months, discontinue treatment for three months, then resume treatment every two weeks for another six months.

FIRST CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE

(Gross Negligence)

15. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under 4955.2, subdivision (a) in that he was grossly negligent in his care and treatment of his patient, J.R. The circumstances are as follows:

16. The standard of care for the use of bee venom to treat patients would fall under the statutory definition of “herbs, plant, animal, and mineral products” and the administration of pollen, honey, royal bee jelly, and propolis can be dispensed like other herbals, topically, orally consumed liquid or tablet or capsule, and is permitted by the acupuncture statutes. However the use of a bee stinger as the delivery mechanism of venom is not within the standard of care, and is considered to be an extreme departure from the standard of care.

The standard of care requires bee venom to be administered in a way which is comparable to the herbals, e.g. topically, orally consumed liquid or tablet or capsule, which would allow treatment with bee venom to fall within the definition of herbal therapy.

17. The standard of care requires practitioners to complete certain actions if their treatments are claimed to be research within the meaning of the law. Respondent provided a single paper to Ramos as proof that he was engaged in legitimate research with regard to apitherapy. Respondent never provided additional information to the Board demonstrating he has performed research utilizing bee stingers as the delivery mechanism of bee venom within a program affiliated with and under the jurisdiction of a approved medical or acupuncture school for the primary purpose of scientific investigation nor did he provide evidence that his treatment of patients while utilizing bee stingers as the delivery mechanism of bee venom is being done only under the supervision of a licensed physician and surgeon. Respondent has never provided

Accusation
evidence that he has submitted requests for funding for his research in apitherapy, submitted additional research paper(s) for publication in this area to an Institutional Review Board, or in any way is engaged in legitimate research permitted by the Code.

18. Here, Respondent failed to conform to the applicable standard of care for an acupuncturist in his care and treatment of patient J. R. because he failed to deliver bee venom during her treatments in a permissible way pursuant to the standard of care.

19. Respondent claimed to be practicing acupuncture, but failed to do so because he was in fact practicing apitherapy, an extreme departure from the standard of care.

20. Respondent claimed to be performing research when he practiced apitherapy in his care and treatment of patient J. R. but failed to do so because he did not comply with any of the obligations required by law to demonstrate the appropriate research practices.

21. Respondent’s care and treatment of patient J.R. as set forth above includes the following acts and/or omissions which constitute extreme departures from the standard of practice:

A. Respondent’s failure to practice acupuncture within the applicable standard of care, performing apitherapy instead.

B. Respondent’s failure to deliver bee venom during J.R.’s treatments in a permissible way pursuant to the applicable standard of care.

C. Respondent’s failure to perform genuine research with regard to the delivery mechanism of bee venom pursuant to the statutory requirements for permissible research.

22. Respondent’s acts and/or omissions as set forth in paragraphs 15 through 21, inclusive, above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute gross negligence pursuant to section 4955.2, subdivision (a), of the Code. Therefore cause for discipline exists.

SECOND CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE
(Repeated Negligent Acts)

23. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4955.2, subdivision (b) of the Code, in that he has committed repeated acts of negligence in the practice of acupuncture.
The circumstances are as follows:

24. Complainant refers to, and by reference incorporates herein paragraphs 13 through 21, inclusive, above.

25. Respondent’s administration of bee venom to his patients like other herbals (e.g. topically, orally consumed liquid or tablet or capsule), required him to have an allergic reaction kit on site for any patient who has an adverse reaction to the bee venom. The failure to have an allergic reaction kit is a simple departure from the standard of care.

A. Respondent’s failure to practice acupuncture within the applicable standard of care, performing apitherapy instead.

B. Respondent’s failure to deliver bee venom during J.R.’s treatments in a permissible way pursuant to the applicable standard of care.

C. Respondent’s failure to perform genuine research with regard to the delivery mechanism of bee venom pursuant to the statutory requirements for permissible research.

D. Respondent’s failure to have an allergic reaction kit on site for any patient who has an adverse reaction to bee venom.

26. Respondent’s acts and/or omissions as set forth in paragraphs 24 and 25, inclusive, above, whether proven individually, jointly, or in any combination thereof, constitute repeated negligent acts pursuant to section 4955.2, subdivision (b), of the Code. Therefore cause for discipline exists.

THIRD CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE
(Unprofessional Conduct)

27. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4955 of the Code, for unprofessional conduct. The circumstances are as follows:

28. Complainant refers to, and by reference incorporates herein paragraphs 13 through 25, inclusive, above.

FOURTH CAUSE FOR DISCIPLINE
(Unregistered Practice Location)

8
29. Respondent is subject to disciplinary action under section 4961 of the Code, for unprofessional conduct. The circumstances are as follows:

30. Complainant refers to, and by reference incorporates herein paragraph 13 above.

PRAYER

WHEREFORE, Complainant requests that a hearing be held on the matters herein alleged, and that following the hearing, the Acupuncture Board issue a decision:

1. Revoking or suspending Acupuncturist Number AC 13713, issued to Zhou Xin Sheng, L.Ac.
2. Ordering him to pay the Acupuncture Board the reasonable costs of the investigation and enforcement of this case, pursuant to Business and Professions Code section 4959;
3. If placed on probation, ordering him to pay to the Acupuncture Board the costs of probation monitoring, and;
4. Taking such other and further action as deemed necessary and proper.
